

CALL FOR PAPERS

University of Baltimore Law Review

All CFCC Therapeutic Jurisprudence Symposium

Governing Topic: Therapeutic Jurisprudence (TJ)

The University of Baltimore Law Review (Law Review) at the University of Baltimore School of Law seeks paper proposals for the Sayra and Neil Meyerhoff Center for Families, Children and the Courts (CFCC) fall symposium on therapeutic jurisprudence. The symposium is set to occur on October 9 and 10, 2020, at the John and Frances Angelos Law Center.

In recognition of the importance of therapeutic jurisprudence within the law, CFCC and the Law Review seek papers that address the concept across legal disciplines by scholars in the United States and internationally. Further, at the fall symposium, moderators will facilitate discussions surrounding the impact of TJ on laws, processes, procedures, clients, and legal actors.

We request submissions of papers that fit within the overarching topic of the symposium, Therapeutic Jurisprudence Scholars' Convening, and that explore any related issues with a focus on TJ.

We welcome paper proposals that consider these and related issues from a variety of substantive legal areas and perspectives. The symposium is intended to serve as a forum for scholars, practitioners, and policymakers to share ideas about the overarching topic of TJ.

To submit a paper proposal for consideration for publication by the Law Review, please email your CV and include your 500-word abstract to ublawreview@ubalt.edu by June 30, 2020. We will notify presenters about selected papers by early July. Working drafts of papers will be due no later than October 1, 2020.

We look forward to your submissions. If you have further questions, please contact the University of Baltimore Law Review at ublawreview@ubalt.edu.
