Resume Guide

Career and Internship Center

FOLLOW THESE SIX STEPS TO WRITE A RESUME EFFECTIVELY

- Your resume should be visually appealing and easy to read.
- Can an employer quickly find the information they need?
  - Watch the length (1 page is ideal for entry-level candidates but can be exceeded, if necessary).
  - Develop brief action statements with bullet points.
- Include (but not limited to) the following information sections:
  - Objective or Professional Summary: 1-2 sentences describing why you are qualified for the job you are applying for.
  - Key Highlights/Skills: List the skills, certifications, and/or technologies you know well.
  - Experience: Starting with most recent-list past employers and/or major projects you have worked on.
  - Education: Degrees you have completed or are working on, as well as relevant classes or certifications. Only include your GPA if it is very high. High school is not necessary to include.

Tailored to the Job

- Think of your resume as an advertisement: You must convince the employer that not only are you a good candidate for the position, you are the best candidate for the position.
- Employers want to see that you understand what is involved in working for them and that you have ideas about how you could contribute to their team.
  - Make sure you highlight any particular skills, experience or education that pertains to the job.
  - Include most important and relevant information at the top of your resume.
  - You do not need to list every project or jobs that aren't relevant. Summarize, but be inclusive.
- Do some research on a company before applying.
  - Know what it is they do, what their company policies and goals are, who their business partners are, and what they look for in employees.
  - Make sure that their values and practices are in-line with your own.

Language

- Be sure to use clear, concise language to get your information across. You want to be thorough but brief.
- Use short phrases and succinct points rather than complete sentences.
- Use professional vocabulary, and employ action verbs where possible.

Spell Check

- Before you submit your resume, make sure you use spell check for grammar.
  - Proofread for spelling, capitalization or punctuation errors. After, have someone proofread your document.

Keywords are Key

- When an employer searches a database, they use keywords. This should mean a couple of things to the resume writer:
  - Include relevant keywords in your resume (industry specific, often found in job postings).
  - A list of keywords that do not represent your expertise should be avoided.
  - Each resume should be tailored to that position you are applying to. This means you may have multiple versions of your resume for different industires or types of positions you are interested in.

Save in Multiple Formats

- You will need formatted and non-formatted versions of your resume for various modes of distribution.
- Make sure to convert your word document into a PDF to retain the original formatting when sending your resume as an attachment.
- It is also important that you save your resume using the following file name : First name_Last name_Resume.

ACCOMPLISHMENT STATEMENTS

Employers want to know not so much what you have done but how well you have done it. These are called accomplishment statements and can make the difference in securing a job with a potential employer. *Keeping a running list of your academic, personal and professional accomplishments to use for your resume and future opportunities.

SHOW 'EM WHAT YOU CAN DO

Adapted from "Don't just sound great; show 'em what you can do" (Andrea Kay in Asbury Park Press, 12/5/2010) Some examples of achievements and accomplishments:

• Corrected an internal problem

Made something look better

Obtained more information

Expanded or improved something

• Increased business or membership

- Made someone look good
- Consistently met/exceeded standards
- Devised or streamlined a system/SOP
- Avoided problems
- Raised profile of companies or events

THE FORMULA

Reduced error rates

- 1. Reflect on your experience
  - i. What problems did you help solve?
  - ii. How did you build relationships?
  - iii. What are you most proud of in this job?

2. Utilize this formula to create the statement

i. Action Verb + Example/Project

Result = bullet point

RESPONSIBILITIES VS. ACCOMPLISHMENTS

When adding accomplishment statements to your resume, it is important to avoid writing responsibility statements. Take a look at the statements below to see the difference between a job duty and a personal accomplishment:

Responsibility	Accomplishment
Responsible for sales in Eastern region	Increased sales profit margin by 87% in Eastern region
As HR manager, was responsible for saving money on corporate benefits	Researched long-term disability insurance and found package that saved company 10% over previous plan

Quantify or qualify your statements with FACTS if possible (concrete evidence).

Before	After
Completed team project ahead of schedule and under budget	As lead member of project management development team, successfully completed performance appraisal ahead of schedule and $25,000 under budget.
Assumed manager duties	Supervised a staff of 7 employees and increased morale and productivity with monthly professional development initiatives.
Input customer orders into database	Input 40 customer orders on daily basis , consistently exceeding the average by 60%

- Cut down time

- Increased customer satisfaction
- Achieved promotion or recognition

ACTION VERBS

Describe your work, class, and extra-curricular experiences using actions words, which pack power. Use past tense for things you have done and present tense for things you are doing now.

RESUME RUBRIC

Use this rubric as a checklist to build an effective resume for your job or internship search. Specifically, this rubric will help you identify key elements that should be included in all resumes. Once you review your resume using the rubric, have someone else use the rubric to review your revised resume.

Resources for building a resume can be found on the Career and Internship Center (CIC) website here:

http://www.ubalt.edu/campus-life/career-center/career-services-online/how-to-guides/index.cfm. In addition, students can log into UBworks (access in MyUB) to utilize the online resume builder or upload their finalized resume to their profile. Last but not least, the CPDC career resource library (SC 306) has numerous resume books and resources, including sample resumes by industry.
